Perma-Seal Selected as a 2011 Top Workplace

Downers Grove, IL – Perma-Seal Basement Systems is delighted to announce that it has been named a 2011 Chicago Tribune Top Workplace in Illinois by its very own team members.

Local companies in Chicago Tribune's Top Workplaces were selected from employee surveys measuring qualities including company leadership, communication, career opportunities, working environment, managerial skills, pay and benefits.

Since 1979 Perma-Seal has been committed to excellence in every aspect of its products and services and is proud to have a loyal team that works together to uphold and maintain that focus. Today, over 31 years later, with the noble cause of "Making the World a Better Place", Roy Spencer, Owner and President, has successfully incorporated the idea of 'giving back' in the company's mission.

Basement waterproofing, sump pumps and crawl spaces may not seem like a glamorous career but when interviewing potential employees, Roy Spencer tells them "I hope this will be your last job," and he means it. He wants everyone on the team to be happy and fulfilled and to pass that on to others through the work that they do--whether they are in management, customer service or are crew member in the field. Working in a positive and uplifting environment is one of the reasons team members are so passionate about helping each and every customer solve their foundation problems and achieve a healthy home.

"I feel like I am making a difference in the world. Perma-Seal's ethical approach and strong moral compass have raised the industry standard which helps all consumers when dealing with contractors." Perma-Seal survey response.
